Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth.
Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sedi-ment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronehitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of search, and among most of the races of men's that risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Crong, it should be kept on hand in every damby, and indeed as all though settled Consignations is thought in curable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Asthma is always releved and often wholly cured by it.

Hronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectorat in small and frequent doses. So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periceical or Billous Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or missmatio poissons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance, whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the agne districts, are iterally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the bistory of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radioal curve decides had wholly failed. The medicine of the radioal curve decides had wholly failed. Another Great Man Gene. Charles Dickens, the great novelist and humorist, is dead-out down, like Thackeray and other great authors -in the middle of his work, 'The Mystery of Edwin Drood' was but half written when his pen was arrested by the hand of death, and the 'Mystery' must ever ramain unexplained. Dickens was more than a great writer; he was a great man. To his writings and speeches England stands largely indebted for important reforms in her Poor Laws and for the amelioration and improvement of her poor and working classes. Perof her poor and working classes. Perhaps few men have done more to elevate the masses, both morally and physically, and of him it may truly be said that he has left his impress upon the English mind, the English-speaking mind. Though dead he yet speaketh, speaketh in his numerous contributions to literature and reform. Charles Dickens was born at Landport, Portsmouth, in 1812, so that he had reached the age of 58. born at Landport, Portsmouth, in 1812 so that he had reached the age of 58. Designed for the Law, he merged into a reporter for the Press. His first engagement as a reporter was on the True Sun, and his next on the Morning Chronicle, in the evening edition of which paper first appeared his Sketches of Life and Character. These were so successful that they were subsequently collected and given to the world under the title of Sketches by Boz. The interest thus created led to an engagement with the publisher, the immediate result of which was the celebrated Pickwick Papers, an effort which at once placed its author in the foremost rank as a popular writer of fiction. After it come Nicholas Nickelby, Oliver Twist, the Old Curiosity Shop, Barnaby Rudge, and many more, all sparkling with original wit, humor and sentiment, besides abounding in vivid delineation of human life and character. In 1841 he paid a visit to America, where his tame had preceded him and where he received a heartly welcome. On his return he published a work recording his impressions of America. Three years later he was appointed principal editor of the Baily News, a po-ition which, however, he soon relinquished. Soon after appeared in the columns of that paper his Pictures of Italy: Returning to his more legitimate sphere of fiction, he produced Dombey and Son, David Copperfield, Bleak House, several Christmas Tales, the Child's History of England and Little Dorrit, and edited the memoirs of Grimaldi, besides conducting the periodical so fitly entitled Household Words. In 1859 he relinquished his connection with that serial to establish All the Year Round, his connection with which was only severed by death. In 1868 Mr Dickers paid his second visit to America, where he was completely overwhelmed with the most enthusiaso that he had reached the age of 58. by death. In 1868 Mr Dickens paid his second visit to America, where he was completely overwhelmed with the most enthusiastic demonstrations and with invitations from every part of the Union. Strange to say, it was not till within a little of his death that Dickens' great claims received Royal recognition. About a year ago he received a special invitation to give one of his readings before the Queen, but he declined to appear in the capacity of an actor where he could not visit as a gentleman. Subsequently he was invited to Her Majesty's Drawing-rooms, and it was whispered that he had been marked out for a Lite Peerage. Meanwhile, however, the Great Sovereign of the Universe summoned him above, where, let us hope, summoned him above, where, let us hope, he will be the recipient of honors higher and more enduring than any earthly monarch

Constantinople in Ashes! If we are to believe the telegraph, Constantinople has just been visited by a fire which, for extent and destructiveness, would appear to be second only to that by which the cities of the Plains were destroyed in the days of Lot. Indeed, although there was doubtless a greater destruction of life at that early conflagration, it is questionable whether the doomed cities comprised a larger number of houses, and a greater marger namoer of houses, and a greater amount of property than it is asserted were destroyed in Constantinople last week. These are points upon which, however, history sheds but dim light; and any data or opinion must partake too much of the speculative to possess any great value. We only know in fact, that these cities were destroyed and that but four persons escaped alive, one of them, however, only to meet an equally terrible fate: 'But his (Lot's) wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt.' Referring to the recent fire, we feel disposed to electric wire has been think that guilty of putting a cypher too many after the numeral, and that the number should be read 7000 instead of 70,000. When it is borne in mind that the population of the Turkish metropolis cannot greatly, if at all, exceed three-quarters of a million, it is impossible to accept the larger number. Calculating an average of ten inmates to each house, the 70,000 would represent within a comparative trifle of the entire population of Constantinople. But even if we ent off one cypher there will still be represented an amount of destruction perlation of the Turkish metropolis cannot off one cypher there will still be represented an amount of destruction perfectly appalling. The sudden destruction of 7000 houses, representing, as it does, 70,000 people driven half naked into the streets, saved as if by fire, is a picture sufficiently terrible to look upon. Indeed, the contemplation of it almost induces one to vanture to one of almost induces one to venture to cut off yet another cypher. That a great configration has occurred in Constantinoflagration has occurred in Constantino-ple, and that it has destroyed much life and property, must, in all probability, be accepted as a fact; but most persons will prefer for the present to doubt the correctness of the figures. One can scarcely venture to hope that, like the Roumania massacre—upon which we avended so much indignation the other expended so much indignation the other day—this news will turn out to be a stupid, wicked 'student's joke.' Pers haps it will be as well to withhold further thought and speculation until confirmation, correction or contradiction imparts a greater degree of certainty.

The Loss of the Active.

In proportion to the amount of trade the number of steamers lest on the route between here and San Francisco has not been small. Viewed in the light of the character of the navigation, it has been large. In 1859 the steamship Northerner, on her way here, struck a sunken rock, not far below Cape Mendocino. Forty lives were lost, and the ship proved a total wreck. In 1864 the steamship Brother Jonathan ran on a reef near Crescent City, and between 180 and 190 of the passengers were lost. In 1866 the steamship Labou-chere struck a rock and went down near Point Reyes, only two lives being lost. On the 5th June, 1870, the steamship Ac-tive struck a rock 20 miles below Cape Mendocino, and became a total wreck. All the passengers and crow were saved, together with a portion of the baggage. The Active was an old and unseawer. gether with a portion of the baggage. The Active was an old and unseawory, thy steamship, the loss of which per se none save the owners would have reason to reget, indeed the prevailing feeling, on being assured of the safety of all the passengers, appears to be one of thankfulness that the 'floating coffin,' as the Active has for some time been designated, has gone down empty. Of course we regret the loss sustained by some of our citizens in goods uninsured, but we are had to say that, so far as we have been cuabled to ascertain, the goods for the most part were covered by 'Insurance. In baggage and personal effects there have been some considerable losses, notwithstanding that the greater part of the baggage is said to have been saved. We regret to loarn that the wife of the Hun M Hankin, who was amongst the passengers, has lost her baggage together with a lot of valuable jewelry. But of course any feeling of regret on account of these mere pecuniary losses must be completely swallowed up by the one great all-pervading feeling of thankfulness for the safety of the passengers. Well, the Active has gone, and with her has departed no little unrest, for we have long felt apprehension for the safety of those who had occasion to risk their lives on her. Let us hope that Confederation or some obter ation will soon place the lives and interests of the colonists beyond the influence of such laggard and unseaworthy steamers.

is likely to be occupied for a score of days to come, in hearing evidence respecting a row among Chinese gambl. rs, during which a revolver was fired without injuring anybody and a knife used which penetrated in several parts the body of a Chinaman. The disputerose over the munificent sum of four dollars cand severty-five cents which the stabbee declared had been won by him, and which the person who stabbed declared was his in accordance with the rules of the Chinese Hoyle. From words the party came to stabbing, when cordance with the rules of the Chinese Hoyle. From words the party came to stabbing, when the first claimant resigned his claim to the money and nearly resigned his claim to life. A 'heap' of Chinamen are in custody, a 'heap' of legal gentlemen have been engaged by either side, and a 'heap' of witnesses have been summoned. The case stands over until today, and Joss alone knows when it will be concluded.

THE SLOOP YELLOW LANE, which arrived here the other day from Fort Simpson, is quite A curiosity in her way. She was built by Joseph Spence—a rugged specimen of an English sailor, and possessed of that indomitable pluck which distinguishes the true John Bu'l—from cypress, a species of wood quite abund that in the locality. The trees were felled by Spence; the planks were whipsawed by him and an Indian; every nail in her hull was driven by Spence himself. Alone in the solitude of the Northwest Coast, remote from the sound of a civilized voice, Spence worked seven long months and when he had launched his little bark successfully he rigged her out with his own hands and with the Indian as his only terew set sail for Victoria, accomplishing the distance of nearly 800 miles in 14 sailing days, which would be reckoned good time for a well-appointed vessel. As a specimen of marine architecture the Yellow Lane is worthy inspection. a curiosity in her way. She was built by NANAIMO ITEMS .- A correspondent writes that a few days ago Steward, the constable at Nanaimo, arrested a colored man named Grimes for selling a bottle of whiskey to a native. He put the handcuffs upon him and started for the jail; but they had not gene far when Grimes started for the bush Steward out with his pistol and shot him, but the man out-ran him. Yesterday morning early Grimes was at a farm, 5 miles from here, and he has not been seen since. He is rather dangerously wounded, the ball struck him on the forehead; a good job he had a hard skull. If that is justifiable Steward might blow the brains of anybody out that he has got a spite against.....The gunboat Boxer hauled under the shute the other day to receive coal when one of the cars broke away and fell upon the Nanaimo, arrested a colored man named one of the cars broke away and fell upon the deck, doing considerable damage. Three men narrowly escaped being crushed and an officer of the Boxer was struck upon the face by a lump of coal. The accident was quite unavoldable.

SCHOOL MATTERS AT COWICHAN .- A meeting of the settlers at Cowichan was held at the Indian Mission house on Wednesday last to consider the best means of raising the money necessary to obtain the Government grant for a common school in that district. The tax of $2 on each householder being insufficient it was resolved that a tuition fee of half a dollar per month be charged on every scholar, in addition to the pell tax. The following gentlemen were elected members of the local Board: The Ven. Archdeacon Reece (Ohairman), Messrs T Skinner, Kier, Rogers and Green, the Iastnamed also acting as Secretary and Treasurer. Much dissatisfaction was expressed that non-residents were exempt from the school tax, a large portion of the best lands in the district being held by speculators who thus have the value of their property enhanced at the werking settler's expense. of the settlers at Cowichan was held at the ARRIVAL FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—The schooner Dreadnaught, Capt Perriman, arrived on Sunday from San Francisco, baving sailed on the 26th May. The schooner comes consigned to Millard and Beedy and brings 220 tons of general merchandise and 40 passengers—37 of whom are Chinamen. Capt Perriman reports strong northerly winds the entire trip.

PUGET SOUND ITEMS .- The steamer Olym pia, Capt Finch, arrived from ports on Puget Sound last evening at 7 o'clock, bringing 31 passengers. Mr Finch, purser, has our thanks passengers. Ar Fince, purser, and out thanks for files of late papers.....The election of Gaifielde to Comgress is conceded. His majority will be about 600....The new steamer Alida, nee Tacoma, will make her trial trip in a few days. The Seattle Intelligencer in a few days. The Seattle Intelligencer says that her length of keel is 115 feet; width 20 (eet; depth of hold 6 feet. She has one boiler with six ten inch flues and forty-four four-inch tubes with a heating surface of twenty-two hundred feet; double engines of 200 horse power with 14 inch cylinders, and one mast with a jib sail. On the upper deck there will be twelve staterooms, one ladies' cabin—16x14—a dining saloon 60 feet long and a promenade deck forward of the pilot house and one aft of the ladies' saloon.

THE LOSS OF THE ACTIVE. - We publish to day additional incidents attending the wreck of the Active. The rascality of a part of the crew and of people living on shore is as much to be condemned as the intrepldity of Capt Lyons, his officers and the majority of his crew is worthy of praise. The passengers were taken to San Francisco in the steamship Pacitaken to San Francisco in the steamsnip Pacific, the officers remaining by the ship to Save

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13-The passenger taken from the Active arrived by the steam. ship Pacific last evening from Crescent City The mails and most of the baggage are safe. The disaster occurred during the prevalence of a thick fog.

The Active's passengers will be sent to Vice oris on the N P T Company's iron propeller Pelican, which will sail to-morrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13-The Active went ashore in a dense log. She is not yet broken up but will go to pieces in the first blow. The inhabitants from points along the coast flocked to the scene, determined to plunder the wreck and being joined by two of the crew who had been whipped for stealing from passengers' baggage, they attempted to take forcible possession of the freight and baggage saved, but were driven off with shot guns. When the Pacific left a long line of lights on shore showed that the wreckers were encamped there and would probably renew the attempt to plunder. Capt Lyon and the entire crew remained behind to look after the wreck and freight. It is thought that about one-half of the freight-of which she had about ninety tons-will be saved in damaged condition. Nearly if not quite all the baggage was saved, very little of it being damaged. Some miscreant broke open a valise and a few other petty thefts were perpetrated. Wells, Fargo's freight is valued at about fifty thousand dollars, nearly all of which is badly damaged, if not entirely ruined. The total value of the cargo is probably about $100 000. The passengers all unite in a card exonerating Capt Lyon and thanking him for attentions to them. Most of them returned here by the Pacific. Following is a list of those of the passengers wrecked on the Active who returned here by the Pacific :- Mrs Hankin, C S Jones, H H Nagle, John S Paul, W H Fleet, Robert Douglas, Finlay McRae, David Marshall, Edwin Bruce, Chas Steward, D Cruickshanks, W H Trimble, Jas Wilson, John McArdle, Luther Ottis, Henry Wells, Chas W Ashley, Nicholas Baker, Jos Saraphic, James Kirk, L Lucre, A G Klaucke, D McRae, A Frazer, A Cook, Mrs Patterson, Emma J Phelps, Francis E Eaton, Mrs Lewis, Mrs C E P Wood, Mary Wood. Chicago, June 10—The Tribuns's New York special says that the discussion on the San Domingo question is diveloping a great amount of bad leeling. The debate in the Executive to-day was marked by bitterness and excitement such as few senators ever before witnessed. The vote last Tuesday and the last the Santya resolution for inverse on tabling the Schurz resolution for inves-tigation was a tie, and the Vice President gave his casting vote in the affirmative. Today an effort was made to obtain reconsideration. The Vice President was taken to task by several senators, who declared that it was not decorous for him as part of the administration to stifle investigation of that matter in debate last evening. Three or four senators got into a wrangle almost without precedent for the last ten years, dur-

The Perils of Fashion.

We are indebted to a lady correspondent for the correction of a mistake, or rather an omission, in our recent article on Tight Lacing. In ascribing the un-gainly, feeble and tottering walk of our modern fine ladies and their middle class imitators to the decrepitude induced by tight-lacing, we omitted to mention another fashionable folly which assists in the production of this evil and has also other sins of its own to answer for. The custom of wearing high boot heels, and those, too, so much smaller than the actual heel of the wearer as to afford no solid support, but only a balancing-point, is a source of mischief. In the first place, it throws the contre of gravity so far forward that a free and gracefully erect carriage is impossible. Secondly there being no firm support to heel, ladies are very apt to twist the ankle suddenly by overbalancing themselves; and this is not only bad in itself, but the fear of its occurence makes them assume a timid mincing gait. And thirdly the effect of driving the toot constantly forward into the to of men whose characters are at all above the lowest grades of conventional inanity, regard the average 'girl of the period.' It connot be denied that there is a significant correspondent between the esthetic hideousness and the degrading effects on physical health which are produced by tight stays and crippling boots, and a certain mental and moral tone in female society of the present day. which is no less surprising than repulsive. The whole dress and carriage of our fashionable women for several years, has been modelling itself, with less and loss concealment, upon the ideal furnished by Parisian lorettes of the consumptive Traviata type. It is not our bus-iness to as sit up or moral censors; but we may be excused if, for once in a way, we find it impossible to ignore the logical though repulsive consistency of the grandes dames and the citizenesses who re willing to spail their lungs and their digestions, endanger their chances of happy maternity, for the sake of a wasp waist-to talk slang close to verging on indecency, for the sake of the tenth part of a chance of catching a husband; and to simper and leer at the indecencios of a Grande Duchesse Gerolstein,

These different medicines represent the most recent medical discoveries, founded on the principles of Chemistry and the areatics. They must not be contunded whise cert or quick in sithes, as their names suitclently indicate thir composition; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the faculty in the whole world. They widely differ from those noncrosus medicines advertised in the public paper as able to corre every pessible dicase, as they are applicable only to but a very few con plaints. The most stringent is was visit in France, with regard to the sale medica preparations, and only those which have under gone an exantination by the Academy of Medicine, and in the publish of in the practice of the first necked men, are althorised to the Government. This fact must be a guarantee for the excellency of Missas, Gibbautt & Co's medicines.
